AFTER TWO YEARS IN SING SING. Young Wolf Pardoned by Gov. Flower-Another Man Owned to the Forgery.

David Wolf, a young butcher who was sensix months in Sing Sing prison for forgery. terday, and walked out of prison last Monday

One day in November, 1888, a young man came to George Hutchings, a butcher in Gansevoort Market, bought some meat, and gave in payment a check on the Mount Morris Bank for $56.72, signed "Herman Stein." payable to "Adolph Block," who had apparently endorsed it. He received $28 in each for change and went off. The check was forged, and Mr. Hotchkiss had been swindled.

David Wolf, who had a butcher's stall in Centre Market, was arrested on suspicion. Mr. Hotehkiss identified him as the man who had given him the check, but his salesman dehad given him the check, but his salesman de-clared that it was not the man who had brought the meat. One day, while Wolf was awaitidg trial, the salesman met in the street the young man who had brought the meat, and had him arrosted. He gave the name of William Gross, which is not his right name, and it was found that he was wanted for sev-eral forgeries. His father, however, who is a well-to-do, respectable business man, settled with the people whom his son had defrauded, and there was no charge against him except grand larceny. Gross, as he called himself, was then 20 years old, and bore a strong facial resemblance to Wolf, who was three years older. He pleaded guilty of grand larceny, and was sent to the Elmira Reformatory for One year.

Wolf was tried before Judge Martine in the Court of General Sessions. The District Attorney attempted to prove that he had conspired with Gross to pass the forged check; that Wolf had uttered the check and passed it, and that Gross had stolen the meat. Wolf swore that he was innocent, and that he had never met Gross. The salesman swore that Welf had not bought the meat, but as Mr. Hotchkies was sure that he had given Wolf the check the young man was convicted and sentenced.

the check the young man was convicted and sentenced.

When Gross heard of this he made a confession, in which after saying that Gross was not his right name, and that he wanted to shield his parents from shame, he admitted that he had forged the check, and that he alone was to blame for the whole thing. Upon the strength of this confession Wolf's lawyers moved for a new trial, but the motion was denied. The Judge believed Wolf to be guilty, and thought that Gross, knowing he had gothing to lose, had confessed simply to save his friend.

Then the matter was dropped for a time un-friend.

Then the matter was dropped for a time until Wolf's friends had raised $1.000 to help him. They engaged Lawyer William A. Gans, who, fiter more than a year's steady work, obtained a pardon for him. Gov. Flower investigated all the evidence thoroughly before he took the final step.

Wolf came to New York last Monday. He is going to open a butcher's stall again. Gross was released from the Reformatory a year ago and is now in Philadelphia.

Not the Rev. Arthur Bichle's Assistant. The Rev. Arthur Richie, pastor of St. Ignatius Episcopal Church, has received letters from several tailors and dealers in church goods asking about the financial standing of the Rev. W. R. McDonald, his assistant. The writers said that Dr. McDonald had purchased writers said that Dr. McDonald had purchased goods on credit. Mr. Richie replied that he had no assistant of that name, and knew no such person. Yesterday he said that no such name appeared on the church list. The tailor, Delury of Sixth avenue, has furnished $100 worth of clothing to the person so styling himself. The swindler is a dark complexioned young man, with close-cropped hair. He is about five feet eight inches tail, and wears a slik hat and black broadcloth suit of clerical cut.

Hopelessly Adrift and Without Food.

MAYPORT, Fla., March 5 .- The tugooat Mabry picked up the schooner B. I. Hazzard, Capt. Brewster, about forty miles east of the Ber-Browster, about forty miles east of the Bermudas, and towed her into this port last night. The Hazzard was thirty-five days out from Georgetown, S. C., for New York, but had lost her sails, and northerly winds had driven her to the southward. She was short of provisions, all the food there was on board being a quart of rice. One sailor had fallen from the rigging and died from his injuries. Capt. Brewster will proceed on his voyage to-morrow.

YOUNG HUBBARD'S GAY LIFE IN TOWN. Lived Only at the Best Hotels and Had the Mills Sent Home.

Eighteen-year-old Gardiner Hubbard, who was arrested on Thursday morning as he was about to leave the Murray Hill Hotel after running up a bill of $38, was discharged by Jus-tice Ryan, at the Yorkville Court yesterday. Hubbard's stepfather, M. E. De Agnew of the Consolidated Exchange, appeared in court and settled all claims against the boy that were presented. When the story of his high life at the Murray Hill Hotel was told in the papers on Fri-day other hotel keepers recognized Hubbard day other hotel keepers recognized Hubbard as a guest of theirs who had left without paying his bills. It appears that Hubbard had put up at various times at the Marlborough, the Linconn. the St. Cloud, the Bartholdi, the Barrett House, and the Oriental. He was introduced at the Mariborough about the middle of January by Count Talmedo F. Minuz, an attache of the Spanish Legation at Washington, who said he wanted a room for a friend, and got one near his own. Hubbard lived there for a week and had a gay time. He and Minez went to the opera or the theatre nearly every night. When Hubbard left he told the manager to send the bill to his father at Dobbs Ferry. The bill was sent and a letter was received in return saying that it was not customary at hotels to trust minors and the writer would not pay the bill. Hubbard's mother then asked for an itemized bill, which was sent to her, but no reply to this was received. Minnez paid his bill.

On Feb. I Hubbard went to the Hotel Lincoln, where he ran up a bill of $38.40. He also spent a week at the Bartholdi, where he had everything charged, including theatre tickers and wine. His bill there was $55.

In Hubbard's pocket was found a notebook, in which he had written out a list of all the first-class into second class hotels in the city. After he left a hotel he checked it off from the list. Hubbard's stepfather thought he was visitotels. Hubbard's stepfather thought he was visiting friends in the city, and was greatly sur-prised to see the list of the boy's creditors. He thinks the bills his stepson ran up may amount to $500. Mr. De Agnew took the boy home.

The Beet Sugar Industry.

WASHINGTON, March 5 .- Henry T. Oxnard of Nebraska, who represents four out of the six heet sugar factories in the United States and inaugurated the beet sugar industry in this country, says:

"Inside of ten years the factories of this country will be producing from beets all the country will be producing from beets all the sugar used for home consumption. It is no longer a matter of experiment, but business. There are four factories in the West, two in Nebraska, one in Utah, and another in California which are producing beet sugar. Each of these factories cost about $500,000 to build. A large proportion of the States can prolitably grow the beets."

Mr. Oxnard asserts that agents of the French and German Governments are lobbying to have the bounty tax repealed by the present Congress in order to continue importation of raw material.

An Emissary of the British Government. MANCHESTER, N. H., March 5 .- Irish-American circles here have been stirred up in the past few days by the report that John P. past few days by the report that John P. Hayes, a saloon keeper of this town, and said to have been a prominent Clap-na-Gael man, had sailed for England to become an emissary of the British Government. Hayes came here from Philadelphia some years ago. It has been charged that he was concerned in the Dr. Cronin murder in Chicago, but nothing was ever proven against him in the case. It is alleged that the British Government called him across the water to assist the Conservatives in the coming Parliamentary elections. Hayes was openly accused once before of being a traitor to the Clan-na-Gael order and of being in the employ of the British Government.

McManus Held on a Charge of Abduction. The examination of Policeman Michael J. McManus, charged with abducting Mary Jennings, took place before Justice McMahon at nings, took place before Justice McMahon at the Tombs court yesterday. There was no evidence to show that improper relations ex-isted between McManus and the girl. The family Bible, with the record of her birth was produced, and the date was found to be July 30, 1873. instead of July 30, 1876. Edward Jennings testified that his daughter had changed the year from 1876 to 1873. The girl denied having done so. Justice McMahon heid McManus in $5,000 bail for trial.

NEW TYPHUS CASES.

All Traceable to Infection from the Masallin's Pussengers. One death from typhus fever at North Brother Island, and three new cases developed.

two of them in hitherto unsuspected localities. is yesterday's record of the disease. Ellie Ronzs, who was sick on the Massilia when she arrived at this port on Jan. 30, and who was taken to North Brother Island from the immigrant quarantine station, died there yesterday morning. The new cases can be traced to the Massilia's passengers. The patients are Ernestine Nationson, 28 years old, of 132 Orchard street; Louis Lebendiger, 1d years old, of 3 Lud-low street, and Abram Jaffe, 37 years old, landord of the lodging house 42 East Twelfth street. The Orchard street house is a big tenement with accommodation for twenty families. Three of the infected immigrants visited Mrs. Nathanson in a rear room on the third floor while seeking lodgings on Feb. 6. Two families, who arrived by the Massilia, were lodging at 3 Ludlow street when the first outbreak of the disease was discovered on Feb. 11. Feb. 11.

A tent has been srected in the yard of Bellevue Hospital for the accommodation of patients whose symptoms resemble those of typhus fever, but are not sufficiently pronounced to render their removal to the rest house advisable.

An Alligator and a Lizard for the Park. Miss Alice Pleasants of 211 West Thirtyeighth street presented an alligator to the Central Park menagerie yesterday. His name is Pete, and although he has been the jet of the donor for over a year, or ever since in-infancy, he grew too fast to be suited to his for mer lodgings. Accordingly Miss Pleasures gave kim to Superintendent Conklin. With the alligator came a rare specimen of the lizar i family, which was presented by Theodore Kruger of Canal street and Broadway.

This lizard, or more troperly iguans, was brought by Mr. Kruger from the West Indies. Although it is only two years old, it is four feet long, and has a mouth which resembles in size that of Caliph, the big hippopotamus. Its appetite, however, is small, for a tiw bread crumbs and flies are food enough for a day. alligator came a rare specimen of the lizar !

JUSTICE WATSON ELECTED.

Some Black Balls That at First Rejected

Him Were in the Hox Beforehand Two weeks ago Police Justice William Watson of Brooklyn applied for membership in the Concordia Society, a social organization in the annexed ward, but when a ballot was taken enough black balls were cast to reject him. It was said by Justice Watson's friends that it was a snap judgment and that some of the black balls had already been deposited in the box before the vote was taken. When Justice box before the vote was taken. When Justice Watson renewed his application on Friday night he was elected by a unanimous vote. Justice Watson has been in politics since his boyhood, and in early life served for some time as Senator Roscoe Conkling's private secretary. He was the Republican leader in Now Lots before its annexation to Brooklyn, and has always taken an active part in the factional squabbles of the organization. He has always been a deadly enemy of the Muzwumps, and, while his liepublicanship is unquestioned, he is a warm personal friend of Hugh Mc-Laughlin, the Democratic leader. Mayor Chapin selected him as one of the new Police Justices a few months before his retirement from office.

Barry Accused of Stealing a Cheek.

Thomas D. Barry, 24 years old, a clerk for Canda & Kane, dealers in building materials at the foot of West Fifty-second street, got $50 from Daniel Meenan, a saloon keeper at 771 Tenth avenue, on Friday afternoon on a check for $562, and said he would call later and get the rest. When he came back at night he was arrested. Payment had been stopped on the check, and Meenan had been informed by Frank Spencer that Barry had taken the check from his employers' safe. At the Yorkville Court yesterday Barry was held in $2,000. His lather was at one time Deputy Collector of distoms.

Prosecutor H's tenhurg Resigns law Haven, March . . The liquor dealers of the city are jubillant to day over the resignation of Levi N. Blydeneurg, prossection agent of New Haven. He waged a bitter war against the liquor traffic, and incurred the hatred of those engaged in the trade. His evidence against the violators of the liquor law was se-cured by "spotters," and the system was gen-erally condemned by the public. He was cen-sured on all sides, and this so annoyed him that he resigned.
